VDA Continues its Investment in Texas with the Acquisition of Encompass RNC

East Hanover, NJ — VDA, a leading provider of elevator and escalator consulting and inspection services, announces the acquisition of Encompass RNC, a Texas-based vertical transportation consulting and inspection company. Encompass RNC adds to the VDA's growing presence in Texas, which includes the addition of both Texas QEI and Elevator Safety Inspection Services (ESIS), both that were added to the VDA family recently.

Founded by Brian Stefanik, Encompass RNC has built its reputation around professional, reliable vertical transportation services, including inspections, consulting, project management, safety audits, due diligence, maintenance audits, and related support for residential and commercial customers. The company is based in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and has more than 40 years of industry experience.

The addition strengthens VDA's inspection presence in Texas and further supports the company's continued growth across key regional markets. For customers, the move brings together local experience, trusted relationships, and the broader resources of the VDA organization.

"Encompass RNC is a strategic addition to our growing inspection business," said Bruce Barbre, VDA's Regional Vice President for the South. "This allows us to better support customers in important areas of Texas, fill key coverage needs, and continue expanding in markets where we see strong demand. Just as importantly, Brian and his team share our commitment to quality, responsiveness, and excellence in service, which makes this a strong fit for our customers and our organization."

As part of VDA, Encompass RNC customers will continue to benefit from the same knowledgeable support and service commitment they have come to expect, now backed by VDA's national resources, technical depth, and expanding inspection platform.

"For me, this is about taking what we've built and giving it room to grow," said Brian Stefanik, owner of Encompass RNC. "We've always focused on doing the job the right way, taking care of customers, and being a trusted resource in the field. Joining the VDA family gives us the opportunity to continue that work with additional support, expanded capabilities, and a team that understands the value of strong local relationships."

This announcement follows VDA's continued investment in its national inspection capabilities and reinforces the company's commitment to building a stronger, more connected platform for customers across the country.

VDA is actively seeking acquisition opportunities with like-minded firms. Companies interested in joining the VDA family are encouraged to contact Ryan Kurtzman, VDA's M&A leader team at vdassoc.com/join-vda.
